

Mill Pond Park
Interpretive and Wayfinding Signage
Bronx, New York

Mill Pond Park is located on the site of the former Bronx Terminal Market. The once-vacant area has been transformed by New York City's Department of Parks and Recreation into a delightful 10-acre waterfront park—the first significant park on the Harlem River in decades. Designed by C&VE, the signage for the park consists of numerous interpretive panels and orientation maps.

The interpretive materials tell the history of the former Bronx Terminal Market while the map panels orient park users to the park's amenities and to additional nearby parks, subway stops, and Yankee Stadium. The sign forms will be used at the nearby Heritage Field Park on the site of the original Yankee Stadium.

Simplicity and ease of maintenance were two of the guiding principals behind the minimalist form of the sign structures. The simple forms allow the sign information to be accessible to all park users.
